5. [] consulted me respecting the NATO paper which was produced as a result of the recent [] meetings. [] was interested in this meeting and [] had requested it from General Porter who had not delivered. [] inquired whether he might look at the paper in CIA. I stated that we would be unable to permit this, since not only would Pentagon approval have to be obtained, but also CIA was not officially represented in the meeting which produced the paper.

6. [] informed me as to his plan to have Admiral Kirk briefed on electronic warfare matters which would involve a [] who is a member of the President's Committee on Telecommunications. I approved, with the understanding that [] in doing this, would not be representing CIA, but would be acting in his capacity as a member of the Presidential Committee.

25X1A9a b. [] inquired as to the best manner to brief DCI in his capacity as Chairman of PSB, on the Telecommunications Committee paper on electronic warfare. I suggested that this should be done through [], who was the DCI's briefing officer on PSB matters.

25X1A9a c. [] informed me that additional information had been obtained on flying saucers, particularly reports of sightings on the ground by relatively reliable observers. He noted that one of the primary theoretical difficulties with sightings thus far reported was the lack of noise and flare. Several scientists have recently delivered papers indicating a possible means of propulsion which would not involve noise and flare. He proposed to have a briefing on this general subject and to call the information to the attention of Air Force and R&DB. I concurred.

25X1A9a 10. Discussed with [] and later with Matt Baird, the Director of Training's program of lectures for incoming trainees. I indicated my general approval of the course he suggested, and that it be kept flexible. It should be arranged with ADs that incoming personnel need not take the course as soon as they come on board, where there was an emergency and immediate need for their services in the Office; further, all personnel would not require all portions of the course. I felt that this was a matter for Training to work out on an individual basis with our offices. [] 25X1A9a and Col. Baird indicated that they agreed with this position and would talk with the ADs, and would have a talk with me after this had been done. During the course of my discussion with Col. Baird, he discussed the over-all activities and mission of training. I indicated that, as far as I was concerned, I felt that all matters could be resolved between Training and all our Offices. I felt that they could afford us very helpful services, but that this would have to be ~~carried~~ into the activities of the various Offices. When Col. Baird raised some question about O/RR's internal Office training, I pointed out the necessity that his Office, with its broad charter, be relatively liberal in giving a license to the various AD's to accomplish results within their own Office, where that was the logical place to do the job. I did not feel that there was any magic in having a course under the auspices of training personnel reporting to the Director of Training. I was primarily interested in results. I really feel, however, that Col. Baird understood this and will proceed along these lines.
